Angus Energy Plc
("Angus Energy", "Angus" or the "Company")
Investor Presentation

Angus Energy plc (AIM: ANGS) is pleased to announce that following its announcements on 22 and 24 February 2021, Angus will share with investors a detailed presentation on the Lidsey Oil Field and a further presentation updating shareholders on progress on all of its existing assets and its focus on developing Transition projects and, in particular, on one potential new project which the Company is progressing in the geothermal energy sphere.

The Lidsey presentation will focus on technical work in seismic and an overall re-evaluation of the reservoir. At IPO in 2016 the Company expected the Lidsey Field would produce up to 300 barrels a day. The document also indicated 9.7m barrels of stock tank oil in place in the licence (although only a limited portion of that could be classified as recoverable based on one well). It is hoped that the revised seismic work, when confirmed, will show the reservoir to have greater aerial extent as well as providing a much improved drilling target as compared to Lidsey X2.

Both presentations may be found under the Presentations section on the Angus website. The Company will hold a live presentation via the Investor Meet Company platform today 4th March 2021 at 5:00pm GMT (details below).
